Disclaim Any Knowledge of Change in Status of Greek Credit.

Athens, January 12 .- It was announced here today that the United States government had consented to advance to the Greek government $32,000,000 already promised Greece when M. Venizelos was prime minister, but upon the condition that the money be expended in America for non-war material.

Washington, January 13.-State department and treasury officials were unable to explain today the announcement in Athens that the balance of a $38,000,000 credit granted to the former Greek government there was a strong probability of had been made available to the Conovernment. There had been no change as to the status of the fund, it was said at both departments. Pending formal recogition of the new Greek government. 000 would remain in the treasury.

Naval Aeronauts Are Due in New York on Friday Morning.

Toronto, January 13 .- The last leg of the American balloonists' home-ward journey from the frozen north, where they were lost four days when their balloon descended near Moose Factory, December 14, was begun when they left at 6:25 o'clock tonight for New York. They are due in New York at 10:30 o'clock due in New York at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

City and Aero club officials met the balloonists upon their arrival in this city, and escorted them to the Old Colony club, where they were dinner guests.

In a statement here Lieutenant Hinton declared: "Farrell is the hero. He bore the brunt of the adventure. He broke the trail and did the hardest work. We were all nearly exhausted and suffered the agonies of swollen feet caused by our unfamiliarity with snow shoes. I am thankful it is over. It seems to me now but a terrible night-mare."

"He is," she answered, gravely;
"awful!"

The unexpected seriousness of her statement precipitated a roar of laughter. It had hardly subsided when the second bombshell was exploded:

"And what's more," continued the visiting screen star, "he's got a cross-eyed dog."

When quiet was finally restored Miss Fazenda explained that some lady in the east had sent Mr. Turpin the afflicted canine with a note setting forth that the giver felt convinced that the rectplent was probably the only person in the United States qualified to understand the animal.

Miss Fazenda's stay in Atlanta was practically an ovation from the moment she arrived at the Peachtree station and she left on the next lap of her journey to Los Angeles enthusiastic in her praise of the city's hospitality. The Ad club affair, a luncheon at the Ansley, a tour of film row, three personal appearances at Loew's Grand, a continuous reception bekind the scenes at the theater and an informal supper after the show were features of the entertainment given in her honor.

FUTURE EXCHANGES WARMLY DEFENDED BY GRAIN EXPERT

Washington, January 13.—The grain trade can get along without the present marketing system, provided congress is ready to place the American farmer on a plane with the Russian peasant and the Argentine farmer, L. F. Gates, former president of the Chicago board of trade, declared today before the house agriculture committee, which is considering bills to regulate future exchanges. The system makes for a wide market, increases the return to producers, and prevents a monopoly he asserted.

Enactment of the Tincher regulation bill would increase the opportunity for manipulating the market, Mr. Gates asserted. The exchanges have themselves adopted safeguards against manipulating, he added.

New York, January 13.—A repetition of the nation-wide stage strike of 1919 may rise in the breach of relations between Actors' Equity association and the Producing Managers' association, which was precipitated here today.

The rupture was caused by the demand of the Actors' Equity association, that Lee and J. J. Shubert will be expelled from the Producing Managers' association for the alleged violations of their agreement with the equity and discriminatory treatment against equity actors.

DRIVE OF LEGION MEETS SUCCESS

Netting $2,536.32 in the first morning hours of their campaign, members of the American Legion in Atlanta, sponsoring the campaign here for starting children of Europe. Thursday held an enthusiastic meeting in the assembly hall of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and laid plans for their futre work. It is believed that results of the work of the legionnaries during Thursday afternoon will exceed even the exceptional work of Thursday morning, but reports on that part of the day's activity will be rendered at the luncheon to be held Friday at 12:30, when the legion men will be guests of Eugene R. Black, local chalrman of the campaign, as they were Thursday.

Mr. Black made a rousing address to the men assembled Thursday, thanking them for the excellent work they had done, and telling them of the confidence the local committee has in their ability to put the drive "over tne top." The legionaries were also addressed by Fonville McWhorter, who is in charge of the legion end of the movement, and who urged that they continue to decision. The company then canceled the contracts, he said.

"I was born in Scotland, but I'm as good a Georgian and American as anyone. In all my travels," he continued, "In both 'this and the old country, I have never seen or heard of a city whose growth has been so rapid as that of Atlanta. We have an element here which is responsible for the development, but there is also a class, which would tear down the work of constructionists and leave the city in a worse condition than it was after Sherman's march through Georgia by starting their program with the wreckage of its public service corporations."

Attacks Municipal Ownership. Attacks Municipal Ownership.

Attacking the proposed municipally-owned gas plant idea, McCrendell declared that with "five hundred school children running loose on the streets of Atlanta because of insufficient educational facilities, "such a proposition would never be a success. His total of $6,460.077 was about $1,500,000 less than the value placed on the property by the company in its petition.

Luther Z. Rosser, Walter T. Colquitt and J. Prince Webster represented the company. The hearing will be continued by the railroad commission Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

President Arkwright was the first witness for the Georgia Railway and Power company in the afternoon session, and using many exhibits, he gave a detailed statement of condition of the Atlanta Gas Light company. Shortly after his introductory evidence, he submitted the following net earnings of the company per month in 1920 and the corresponding percentage of operating expenses to the revenue:

The revenue of the corporation is always received two months after falling due, according to Mr. Arkwright, and it is necessary for it to have a working capital of approximately $533.546.55.

His table, showing profits of the first six months exclusive of deterioration and similar usual deductions and losses of the last half, follows:

The company entered the war in 1917 with the government commandeering a large amount of oil, making it practically impossible to get the amount and quality necessary for the manufacture of gas, he stated. The corporation was forced to reduce the standard of quality of complaint," he said, when the reason for such a step was the war.

"There are some people who are always reddy to stir up antagonism. refusing to take into consideration the past record and the conditions under which a corporation is working." he declared.

Thereagh Investigation in February, 1918, said Mr. Arkwright, by a government expert resulted in the methods used by the corporation being highly commended and the service rated as exceptionally good under existing circumstances. He told of the conflicting reports of the city tester of gas and those of the company in December of 1918. The city maintained the gas was not up to the required standard and the commission finally requested a government investigation, it was stated. The government expert made an inspection, Mr. Arkwright said, which resulted in an official report to the effect that it was impossible to secure a correct reading from the city's testing station. The company's errors were also mentioned in the report, he continued but declared that the "errors against the corporation were greater than its own."

Refers to Richmond.

When Mr. Arkwright suddenly left this subject and mentioned the Richmond municipal gas plant, he smiled, while the witnesses in the room laughed aloud.

"Improvements which the Richmond plant will make, according to reports, are all well and good, but Atlanta has already made these. So Richmond following in our footsteps," he stated.

In the manufacture of gas, the biproducts are in turn manufactured by the corporation and when sold, the net profit is credited to the cost of making gás, Mr. Arkwright stated. One of the chief bi-products is tar and this is refined before being sold.

Cross-Examination.

After the witness concluded his testimony, Attorney W. S. Coburn, who was present with Hugh M. Scott as representatives of citizens at the instance of Dr. L. N., Huff, started the cross-examination, by asking if it were not true that inexperienced meter readers during the war period were responsible for

He also told of a comparison by authorities several years ago of the Richmond plant as a municipally-cwned concern and the Atlanta company as a corporation. When the final report was made it was shown, he stated, that the gas plant here led in all departments.

The city attorney asked how many cubic feet of gas were sold in 1920 and was informed that 1,397,392,100 was the approximate figure.

In 1913 the gas rate of the company was raised from $1 to $1.15 fer 1.000 cubic feet, and in October this year an increase from $1.15 to $145 was granted. The company now asks that for the first 10,000 cubic feet a rate of $2.25 per 1,000 cubic feet a rate of $2.25 per 1,000 cubic feet be granted for Atlanta and surrounding territory; for the next 20,000 cubic feet, $2.15, and for all over 30,000 cubic feet of 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet discount for prompt payment.

For College Park, Decatur and East Point territory a rate of $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet, subject to the same discount, is requested. The n-inimum monthly charge per meter in both territories is set at $1.50 in the petition.

The beautiful dinner was served in the spacious ballroom of the Standard club, and the capacity of the room was taxed to the limit to seat all the assembly. It was hard to realize that there were that many department store employees in all of Atlanta. The negro employees were not forgotten. They were provided for in another part of the club, vided for in another part of the club, and one look in at their merriment was enough to convince anyone that the annual banquet is a holiday fete for them.

Walter Rich, vice president of the company, acted as toastmaster. A tribute was offered by him to the late D. Rich, who was one of the founders of the store and, at the time of his death, eight months ago, was vice president of the company. The assembly joined in silent tribute to his memory.

The assembly joined in silent tribute to his memory.

The toastmaster told of the successful year through which the company had just passed, whereby it was able to divide the tremendous bonus. "You have worked hard and you, as well as the company, are entitled to the fruit of your labors," said he.

"Business Is Wonderful."

"Next year it is our aim to make the bonus at least $150,000. This firm's business success can be measured and tested by the amount of its bonus, and I'll tell you now I'm an optimist. Business is wonderful. We have passed the period of deflation and are now on our way upward."

Turning to the representatives of the Atlantta newspapers. M. Rich pald them the "store's greatest and strongest allies in business." Following his brief remarks, he called upon John Paschall, of The Journal; James B. Nevin. of The Georgian, and Clark Howell, Jr., of The Constitution. for short talks.

In their remarks the wonderful family spirit of co-operation, the firm belief of the public in the institution since its establishment in 1867, and the faith and integrity of the management since its foundation were stressed.

Following the speaking, the toastmaster proposed a toast to President M. Rich, one of the founders of the company during the days of reconstruction. The toast was greeted with a burst of appeluse.

Turning to Dave Strauss, secretary and treasurer, and Lucian York, general manager, whom the toastmaster termed as "our fun-makers." he turned the meeting over to them to furnish the merry-making. "Klaw & Erlanger" York, as Mr. York was dubbed, rose to the occasion and from then on it was "big-time vaudeville."

All Acts Hendliners.

All of the acts, with the exception of the remarkably graceful interpretative dancing rendered by little Miss Bertha Rich, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rich were furnished by members of the Atlanta Opera club. Little Miss Rich was applauded so heartily after her first dance that she was compelled to change costume and give an encore as a Spanish dancer. Every act was a headliner, and the encores were frequent. From the very opening number, to the final song, in which all the guests joined, there was not a lapse in the merri-

The population of the cities and towns in 1920 showed a gain of 5.6 per cent over that in 1910 and was 51.4 per cent of the total population of the country. The propor tion of urban population is larger than in 1910 in all but three states -Colorado, Montana and Wyoming -the largest increase being that for Michigan-from 47.2 in 1910 to 61.1 per cent in 1920. Texas, Indiana, Ohio, Florida and Oklahoma also show considerable gain in the proportion of population living in

The bureau's statement did not undertake to account for the drift from the rural to urban territory, out previously officials have attributed it largely to the world war. Large salaries in the cities attracted many from the country, while many soldiers who lived on farms before joining the army took up life in the cities after their disharge.

The urban and rural population of Georgia is 727,859 and 2,167,973.

Adjutant General Ordered by Governor to Investigate Alleged Intimidation of Negroes in Hall County.

Adjutant General Van Holt Nash, of the national guard, has been ordered to the scene of the recent inter-racial trouble in Hall county by Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, according to official announcements Thursday night.

New York. January 13.—Merriment along the "gay white way" received a severe jolt when police made the rounds early today of all caberets and dance halls with orders to rigidly enforce the state excise law forbidding them to remain open after 1 o'clock.

A series of raids by plain clothes detectives in the "lid clamping" crusade resulted in the arrest of three bartenders charged with selling liquor without license. The arrest, made before the legal closing hour, caused scarcely a ripple among the merrymaking patrons.

Most of the cabaret proprietors unprotestin, ly compiled with the orders. Announcements of closing at this unwonted hour, with the diners and dancers having nowhere to go b t home, dropped on them like bombshells. But there was a seneral exodus to the streets.

Labor Board Hearing Interrupted by Hot Debate on Qualification Rule for Repair Men.

Chicago, January 13.—Argument men's rule interrupted the after oon session of the railroad labor board hearing today to such an extent that the chair was compelled to call the meeting to order. The discussion came up during the testimony of E. T. Whiter, in behalf of the railroads, which are asking for abrogation of the nationa agreement.

The discussion was precipitated when A. O. When the board adjourned today until Monday to allow executive sessions the remainder of the week. Mr. Whiter had taken up seventy-five rules. There are 182 to be considered in the case of shop crafts.

Mr. Whiter said he might be able to finish his case by the end of next week. Presentation of evidence on rules covering the remaining classes of employes, he said, would probably consume another two weeks. The case of a helper wno was state and municipal traffic laws. The principles will be recommended for adoption, n was said, by all state legislatures.

Recommending the establishment in every state of a definite agency for administration of traffic laws, the conference advocated that such agency be empowered, within proper limitations, to "refuse, suspend, or revoke all registrations and operators' licenses." It recommended regulations prohibiting issuance of a license for operation of motor vehicles to any aperson under 16 years of age and set the minimum age for a chauffeur's license at 18 years.

age for a chauffeur's license at 18 years.

As a principle of reciprocity in state laws, the conference agreed, every motor vehicle licensed in one state should be permitted to operate in another state without license thereunder for a period of three months, "the time not necessarily consecutive."

The conference recommended heavy penalties for such offenses as operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, for reckless driving at any time, and for the theft of motor vehicles.

Organizations indorsing the principles included the American Automobile association, the Federal Highway council, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and the National Safety council.

MARIETTA My attention is called to the fact that in writing a prospectus for Atlanta's 1921 sporting event, I neglected to mention the fact that the annual tournament of the Women's Southern Golf association is to be played in Atlanta over the East Lake course in October. My apologies are profound—for, honestly and candidly, I look on that as probably the premier sporting event of Atlanta's year—and I know GIRLS BEAT HANSON FIVE

The second round of the Girls' Amateur Basketball league was played last night on the Pine and Peachtree courts. The Marietta Y. W. C. A. trimmed the Hanson Motor company quintet, 31 to 4. The Georgia Baptist Nurses won easily from the Southern School Book Depository five, 23 to 2. The Amoma Class defeated the Central Bank team, 18 to 3. The winners played fine ball in each case, and their as probably the premier sporting event of Atlanta's year—and I know whereof I speak. Some years ago I happened to report this annual tournament when it was played over the course of the Country club at Montgomery, Ala. The women qualified on the most wretched day that has ever dawned outside of France. From the time the first pair teed off until the minute the last pair finished the eighteenth hole, the team. Is to 3. The winners played fine ball in each case, and their team work was in evidence throughout the battles.

The Marietta-Hanson game was the biggest setback of the night's encounters. The winners had the Hanson team at their mercy at all stages of the contest, and seemed to have an easy time ringing up goals. Gober and Galley hit the basket for six goals each during the game. The best work for the losers was done by Lacey and Groover.

The Georgia Baptist Nurses proved to have a fine quintet, and easily defeated the Southern School Book five. Miss Parrott, center for the game, making five field goals and three foul goals. Miss Wilbanks also played fine ball, registering three field goals. During the latter part of the game Miss Randall replaced Miss Wilbanks, and promptly hit the basket for a brace of goals. Loylo Ganon and Loretto Condon played the best game for the losers. The Amoma Class pulled another surprise and trimmed the Central Bank quintet, 18 to 3. This was the hardest fought game of the evening, and both teams played fine ball throughout. The work of Dell Galnes and Flora Mae Medlock featured for the losers was done by Miss Mann and Miss Morris. finished the eighteenth hole, the heavens wept.

It wasn't ordinary rain. It was a drenching downpour. In addition to that fact, the Montgomery course is built on prairie land and prairie mud is the sticklest that nature has invented. But those women had the golfing spirit. Despite rain and mud and everything else they stuck to their guns. Mere man would have quit in disgust—but the women didn't. They played golf. Their scores were big, but their courage was bigger. No one has ever seen a better display of golfing determination.

And those same women, lots of them, will be in Atlanta in October. Of course, I wish that the golfing conditions could be perfect at that time, but I also have a hankering for just such a day as they encounfinished the eighteenth hole, the for just such a day as they encoun-tered in Montgomery. Auburn Next Foe for Beanmen; Tigers Have Strong Quintet FOR PREPS

Having tasted already one choice bit of Alabama meat, the Atlanta Athletic club is looking forward with much pleasure to the Saturday night engagement with Michael Donahue's Auburn Tigers. It will be recalled that the local clubbers administered a very bitter bill to the Birmingham Athletic club Saturday night, and we have Coach Joe Bean's assurances that he is confident the Atlantans will come through Saturday's game with their list of consecutive games won unbroken.

However, the "Tiger of the Plains" isn't a basketball weakling by any manner of means, and the clubbers will certainly have a real task in carving a victory. Auburn's defeat of Mercer enhanced her strength a lot in this section, and we haven't been told of over-confidence reigning in the Atlanta camp.

Shock to English.

There can't be much joy in "Old Blighty" this morning, when the defeat of the little Briton, Jimmy Wilde is discussed. Wilde was badly outweighed, but at that his countrymen had picked him to whip Pete Herman, and the realization that Jimmy took a whale of a beating must be sad to Wilde's supporters. According to the press disnatches, Wilde staged a gallant battle, but the history of that seventeenth round leaves a hint that Jimmy hit the floor much harder wallops than he landed on the American.

that English fans were believers in Jimmy to the point that they'd back their bank rolls on the little fellow against Jack Dempsey. "Englishmen regard Jimmy Wilde as the one unbeatable prize fighter on the universe," McDonald declared, "and the odds you're reading to me will continue until a verdict is reached."

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay gray! Here's a simple recipe that anybody can apply with a hair brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grand-mother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Havana, January 13 .- Major General Enoch Crowder, special repre-sentative of President Wilson, investigating conditions in Cuba, in statement given out tonight, after eferring to the failure of the electoral board and courts to function within the prescribed limit, declared:

that it was possible to extend relief in soviet Russia on the conditions or awn up by the soviet authorities, and, second, the American Friends service committee (Quakers) which has been operating almost continually in Russia on a small scale under British management.

"The state department has taken the positio inthat it could not officially encourage the entry into soviet territory of American relief workers so long as the soviet authorities contained to hold as hostages American citizens who are not accused of any illegal activity, but its attitude toward relief workers has been identical with that towards private business enterprises.

Half a dozen witnesses, represent ing many corporations, testified that as the law stood today it gave a distinct and tremendous advantage to foreign traders because foreignrefused to travel on dry ships if they could book passage on others where the serving of wines with meals was not a crime.

Mr. Wheeler alone was heard in opposition to the plea of the steambill by Representative Edmonds, of Pennsylvania, ranking republican nember of the merchant marine ommittee, to exempt passenger vessels engaged in foreign trade from provisions of the Volstead law. Asserting that many ships now were "bootlegging," Mr. Wheeler said the amendment would multiply the difficulty of the dry law's enforcement, and that it would be a bad precedent to rush to the relief of everybody whose business was damage by prohibition.

Postal communications with soviet Russia could not formally be established without treaty negotiations, he added, saying:
"That this government does not take such steps in order to facilitate postal communications, cannot justly be construed as a refusal to permit communications. As a matter of fact, it is well known that letters do pass between the two territories. An American of Russian descent wishing ta communicate with his mother in Russia, while it is impossible for this government at present to actually help him, is not hindered nor interfered with by it." Sees World Dry.

It was in answer to a suggestion by Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri, that the ship owners merely wanted an equalization of liquor laws so that they would be on the same footing with Great Britain, that Mr. Wheeler touched upon the hope of spreading the fight against salaons to the four quarters of the earth. Information was given out Thursday that although grand lodge of ficers of railroad unions are still in Atlanta and that meetings are being held by them, there will be no public announcement given out regarding the A., B. & A. wage reduction pending instructions, from international officers of the unions in Washington, with whom the grand lodge officers here are in communication.

President B. L. Bugg and other officers of the A., B. & A. who are out of the city, are not expected to return to Atlanta until Friday morning. It is understood, however, that no furtner conferences will be held with the railroad officials, but that whatever action is taken by the brotherhoods will be on direction from the international officers.

"The steamship companies are unduly alarmed." Mr. Wheeler declared. "The company that adopts a sound policy looking to the moral welfare and protection of the people will win in the end. The public wants service and not booze, and let me say that the company that renders good service and less liquor finally will dominate."

Representative Edmonds, in urging approval of his amendment, sad he looked at it strictly as a business proposition.

"Condition—Not Theory."

"If we wait for the world to go dry, while other hations are going ahead with their shipping," he added, "we won't have any flag. We are dealing with a condition, not a theory, and right now it means that construction, reaching up into the millions, must stop, because American companies cannot now compete squarely with the rest of the world."

Representative Neely, democrat, of West Virginia, surgested that the hotel owner in Buffalo might just as well come to congress for financial relief because a hotel on the Canadian side was getting more trade with a bar as on added attraction.

W. F. Gault, alias W. Harrison, G. W. Tayor, alias G. W. Rhodes, J. Miller and John Henley were bound over to the state courts under bonds of $1,000 each Thursday by Judge Johnson charged with violating section of $20 of the criminal code, which makes it a misdemeanor for "aiding to escape, or attempting to aid or assist a prisoner to escape." Their arraignment before the recorder on this charge followed the discovery of saw marks upon the steel bars of the outer window of the division where state prisoners are confined. An investigation showed that two of the bars of the window leading into the lot in the rear had nearly been sawed in two. A search of the state cell and inmates followed. A belt was found containing four hack-saw blades, which were cunningly concealed from the eye and which were so arranged in the belt as to pass a casual examination without detection. All denied any knowledge as to who the belt belonged to, until a severe grilling at the hands of Detectives Cochran and Arthur brought about confessions, according to the officers.

The first three prisoners—Gault, alias Harrison, Taylor, alias Rhodes, and Miller—were held under charges of trying to dispose of a stolen automobile in Atlanta. They were caught in an effort to sell it to a Marletta street dealer, according to Detectives Malcombe and Meek, who arrested them.

John Henley, who was arrested in a downtown hotel, gave his occupation as a hotel clerk. He is wanted on a warrant in Jackson-ville, Fla. according to Call Officers Wood and Webb, who placed him under arrest.

ARARAT GROTTO HOLDS ANNUAL MEET TONIGHT

BOSTON BUSINESS MAN TO MAKE TOUR OF STATE

That the recent tour of citizens under the auspices of Georgia Tech of northern industrial and educational centers, has been of benefit to the state was proven by receipt of a letter Thursday from Everett Morss, of Boston, who expressed the intention of coming to Georgia and making the tour of Georgia arranged for April.

The letter was received by Hugh Richardson, one of the men who made the trip. Mr. Morss is president of the Simplex Wire and Cable company, and is chairman of the advisory board of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Morss, as an official of Boston Tech, and a member of the Boston City club, took a prominent part in entertainment of the 12s Georgians headed by Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, on their trip east. He states that he was on that occasion impressed with the Possibilities of Georgia and that he wishes to study business conditions in this state.

The name stockade would cling to the school if it were moved there, he said. He also pointed out that the present structure on the stockade property was not sny more adapted to educational purposes than the present warehouse buildings on Marietta street that house the school.

Tract Is Suggested.

When asked for a suggestion as to a site for a possible new Tech High school, Mr. Dykes named the 25-acre tract immediately across Ponce de Leon avenue from the ball park. The property is the old Ponce de Leon amusement park site, and Mr. Dykes said he believed it could be bought for $100,000. Some of the committee members stated that the location would be too inaccessible, whereupon Mr. Dykes replied that it would be necessary to establish the school in a residence section, and that it would be almost impossible to find a centrally located tract large enough for the purpose.

After the school budget had been materially reduced, Chairman Seawright took the chair. On motion of Councilman Nutting, seconded by Councilman O. H. Williamson, an appropriation of $17,500 for the purpose of widening Peachtree street from Forrest avenue to North avenue, was placed on the street hudget. The appropriation of an equal sum by Fulton county Members of the committee, together with members of the council streets committee, will probably appear before the Fulton county board of commissioners at its next session to ascertain what action will be taken in the matter by the county. On motion of Councilman Martin $2,000 was placed in the tentative sheet for paving one side of the Pryor street underpass for three blocks, beginning at Ridge avenue, and extending two blocks beyond the railroad.

Robert C. Alston, well-known Atlanta attorney, appeared before the committee during the morning session in opposition to the plan to levy an emergency tax of one-half of one per cent as the solution to the needs of the school department. He asserted that none of the conditions cited by the champions of the levy can be considered emergencies. He said that conditions that have existed for several years cannot be an emergency, and questioned the authority of council to levy the tax. Although maintaining that the tax, if levied, would be illegal, Mr. Alston advocated a smaller emergency tax levy of one-fourth of 1 per cent, and said that the public should be requested to "accept it as a duty," and later, if a larger levy becomes necessary, to endeavor to secure the proper power to make a legal levy. Judge George fill-yer opposed a bond issue, declaring that between such an issue and an emergency tax the bond issue was the greater evil.

FROM THE HOME-OWNERS'

VIEW.

Indicative of the sentiment that prevails, and that must prevail, ong the small home-owners of tlanta who have given the subct thought, is the action taken on the extra emergency tax levy proposal by the Edgewood Progressive club.

That organization is composed of citizens who own their homes, and who know full well whence mes the money with which they annually satisfy the demands of the tax-gatherer!

Its members voted unanimously in opposition to the proposal to raise $1,300,000 in one lump sum his year for badly-needed school improvements by adding an additional tax burden of one-half of one per cent to the regular levy. As it was pointed out at the meeting at which this action was aken, those citizens are in favor of good schools; they recognize need for the improvements contemplated by the proposed extra tax levy, and that the amount thus anticipated is not nearly enough to adequately meet the requirements.

They are willing-more than raising whatever amount is needed, but they declared by resolution they are unalterably opposed to lege of Surgeons. being saddled with inordinate taxation on top of their already heavy tax burden-at least until the al ternative method has been given a trial!

That alternative is the bonding method; by which, if successful, five times the amount of money it is proposed to raise by direct extaxation could be brought into nd at an annual cost far below that of obtaining the one million by the emergency tax process.

The Edgewood district home owners know that an emergency tax levy of one-half of one per cent will be based on the increased valuations of last year, when operty prices were high, and in inv instances inflated, so that ch a levy this year, on the basis valuations of the year before tually would amount to a levy of much more than one-half of one er cent!

They are opposed to such a produre, except, possibly, as a last

In other words they want to try he bonding method first, and if at fails, they will be willing to try the other.

This is the home-owners' view int, and there is no answer to it.

FOR BETTER HEALTH.

From the standpoint of community welfare the public health meeting to be held in the Wesley Memorial church tonight, the details of which appear in the news columns of The Constitution this morning, promises to be an event of unusual importance.

The meeting is to be held under he auspices of the Georgia state section of the American College of Surgeons, the Alabama and Florida sections co-operating in making it a success.

The American College of Sur geons is an organization with approximately 5,000 members in the United States and Canada, com posed of prominent surgeons, and its activities are mainly directed toward an improvement of facilities for preventing disease, treating the sick and to raise the standard of public health, thus to increase human efficiency and conserve human life.

It is to that end that the meet ing in Atlanta is to be held, and the public is not only invited, but urged, to attend it.

The meeting is to be addressed by some of the world's foremost authorities on subjects pertaining Appropriate to this classifica ion is Dr. Franklin H. Martin, sec retary general of the American College of Surgeons, who will discuss the organization he represents. He will tell the public just what the college is, explaining its high and beneficient purposes. One of these objectives is the conservation of human life; and as a means to that end the college of surgeons is striving to elevate the general standard of American hospitals.

It is conducting a campaign throughout the United States and Canada to bring about a closer organization of "house" staffs in our hospitals, universal adoption of a uniform and improved system of keeping records and histories of hospital cases that pass through surgeons' hands, and better and standardized laboratory facilities in our hospitals. Two addresses at tonight's meeting will be devoted to this general topic. One on "Better Hospitals." by Rev. C. B. Moulinier, S. J., president of the Catholic Hospital association; the other, on "The ch to do his part toward Standardization of Hospits Harold M. Stephens, director of hospital activities, American Col-

> Another topic of intensest public interest to be discussed at this meeting is suggested by the subject of a scheduled address by Dr. John Osborn Polak, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, Long Island College of Surgeons, "Economic Value to Community of Pre-Natal Work."

> "The Control of Cancer" is another subject of vital public concern, to be discussed by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, associate professor of clinical surgery, Johns Hopkins university, who is an authority on the treatment of cancer and upon surgery in general, of international reputation.

Statistics compiled and vouched for by the American College of Surgeons show that most deaths from cancer occur between the ages of 35 and 55; that two women to one man die from this cause: that one woman in eight who die above 40 years dies from cancer: and that a greater number of deaths from this one cause occurred in the United States last year than occurred among the entire American expeditionary forces in France during the war from all causes.

When those startling records are given consideration the treatment. and, above all, the prevention, of this dreadful malady at once becomes a matter of tremendous significance to every citizen.

Tonight's meeting is, in a sense to be a public health mass meeting. Its power for good will, of ourse, be governed largely by the extent to which it is attended.

No admission fee is to be charged; no collection called for; no icited nor accepted if tendered to the enlightenment of the pu upon matters of pre-emine

HEALTH TALKS

Easy With the Bables, Please I certainly oughter give especial attention to letters about the health of babies, and I wish I could consider every such letter individually or rather the baby's trouble. But that is impossible for two reasons: first, I have only one bean and two first, I have only one bean and two eyes and two hands and one type-writer; and second, if I had a score of these useful appendages I would still be incompetent to diagnose or prescribe (prescribe diet or fresh air or anything) for a baby. I have not personally examined. Will fond and doting mothers—about forty-nine thousand of 'em, and perhaps a coupla thou anxious fathers—bear this in mind, please, when writing me about the one and only. I love all babies, particularly ly children I love 'em. Of all mundane joys, both pure and sinful. here is surely none other that can compare with the joy of a baby's compare with the joy of a baby's smile. It is the one smile in this world that comes unadulterated and 100 per cent proof. I mean the one joyous smile. Mother's smile somehow has a tear in it generally; even at her happiest, mother's joy is never over 99.41 genuine, is it? There's always something, some little thing or some big thing in the back of mother's head that kinda tempers her smile with sadness. Perhaps that is what makes a mother's smile so sweet to behold. But as for me, bring out the babies!

Have you known the inexpressible joy of your first baby's first smile? Can you ever forget how he crewed up his face and tried hard to make both eyes look in the ame direction at the same time, and same direction at the same time, and then, perhaps just as you were about ready to return him for exchange, all of a sudden his mouth began to cut the funniest capers and you realized that your baby was smiling at you! His stock jumped sky high in a jiffy. You no longer thought of sending him back. It was a wonderful day, a far greater day than the day the baby first said "Da-da." (The consensus of expert opinion is that this means father."

Dear Mr. Hollomon: I desire your indorsement and also help for the directorship of the census bureau, with which office I sm familiar. In this connection I beg leave to make a few brief observations towards passing enclosed resolution.

One man, who is a combination preacher, lawyer, physician, author, scientist, statistician, linguist and several other things, seeks to be director of census.

A business man might serve well as head of the department of commerce, but not as director of the census, for he could not understand adequately scientific men. Also the prospect of being dictated to by one who knows little or nothing about their work keeps scientists away from our government. A real scientist prefers a small salary with no dictation, to a larger salary with dictation. Will you make use of a form similar to enclosed paper? War Mothers' Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of war mothers was held at 3 o'clock January 11, at Edison hall. This was one of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings ever held, being a hearty response from the members to the privilege of having Dean Johnson as an orator, as a dramatic speaker of great magnetism who thrills an audience with the intense, gripping, masterful realism of his subject, Dean Johnson has few superiors. Going himself as a chaplain in the service, he was well capacitated to bring a message to war mothers.

The same staff of officers, according to the revised by-laws and constitution, will continue in office throughout 1921 to 1923, two years being the term of office.

Short Selling Invited In Market News of Day

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, January 13.—There was a spotty opening of the stock market this morning, Atlantic Gulf, Studebaker and a number of other shares being down a point or more, while Crucible, with the short interest eliminated, was off 3½. Lackawanna Steel, Republic, International Paper, Reading were bid up to hide selling in Asphalt, Transcontinental Oil, Steel common. This went on until the whole market, with the exception of some rails turned soft. Trading, however, was comparatively light.

Those who believe higher prices are going to be seen in the stock market before the end of this month were delighted with the way the market acted today. More short selling was invited. With today's price decline caused by renewed short selling and some profit-taking, the technical position of the market has been strengthened. If the decline does not run very far and then within a week prices again begin to advance, some new high records are going to be made for the year.

There was some unfavorable news today, having to do with the closing of plants and reduced dividends. But this was understood by closing of plants and reduced announcements of conditions already Wall street merely to belated announcements of conditions already well understood.

On the other hand, there was favorable news in the accumulated evidence of easier money, despite the heavy withdrawals of deposits to be made by the government from the banks here before the end of this week.

Call money opened at 6 per cent for the first time since last November, and then it remained at that rate only a very short time. Sixty-day loans were also made at 6 per cent, against the recent ates of from 7 to 8, and from 8 to 9, the high of last year, when even those rates were nominal, because money could not be obtained at

Going Begging.

And, while these official rates for money were being lowered, it was learned that call money from out of town was lending outside of the stock exchange from 4½ to 5 per cent and going begging. It was also stated that time loans were being made at rates below those quoted officially. These conditions, if continued, are bound to be reflected by higher prices for securities having fixed returns.

Wilson & Co., the meat packers, not only reduced the quarterly dividend today, but made the payment in stock. Thomas E. Wilson, president, made the following statement:

"Pending return of more settled conditions in commercial and ndustrial world, the directors decided to declare at this time in place of the usual cash dividend of $1.25 a share a stock dividend of 14

It was explained that the packing industry had passed through-period of adjustment probably in advance of all other industries, ind the indications now were that this readjustment had been pracically completed. It will be recalled that the Cudahy Packing compassed its dividend the second week of last September, when similar transaction was taken by the National Cloak & Suit Co.

National Biscuit has made public its earnings for the year ending December 31 last. The figures show $13.02 earned for the $29,236,000 common stock, against the $12.3 earned for 1919.

Shareholders of the Transcontinental Co. are going to be allowed subscribe to the stock of a new company to be called the Mid-Columbia Oil at $5 a share, according to today's news. The new company will take over $1,000,000 shares of oil land now owned by Transcontinental in Colombia, South America. As Transcontinental shareholders already own this land it would seem that the directors had taken a leaf out of the book of Southern Pacific directors in selling comething to the shareholders for cash which they already owned. thern Pacific will not sell its oil company rights tomorrow as previously announced. The new stock is not ready to be delivered.

Many Resignations. The resignation of A. W. Mellon as a director of the Pennsylvania is expected to be the first of many other such resignations. Mr. Mellon a director of American Locomotive, Standard Steel Car, Crucible Pittsburg Coal and the Mellon National bank and the Union Trust Co. of Pittsburg.

Foreign loans aggregating $150,000,000 are now pending. A Belgian loan of $25,000,000 is likely to be announced before the end of next month. France may get $100,000,000 here before the end of this month. Wall street has always been well represented at the annual automobile show which is now being held here. Your correspondent has put to many people within the past few days this question;

"What is there about this year's show that has most impressed you?" Invariably the reply has been: "The big crowds." Inquiries to sales however have warranted the belief that many have gone to see rather than to buy. This belief is partly confirmed by today's dispatches from Buffalo to the effect that he Dunlap Tire and Rubber Co. of that city which has expended some $22,000,000 in new buildings within the past eighteen months had suspended operations until April issuing the following statement:

"The directors have decided that general conditions in the automobile industry are such that they are justified in slowing program until conditions improve. April 1 is the probable date of resumption of activities, although it may be much sooner if the con-

This company, whose capital is owned in England, has built a very extensive and expensive plant, expecting to turn out tires, handling the entire operations from raw to finished products. A textile plant was recently purchased at Utica.

Coffee.

New York, January 13.—There were further reactions in the market for coffee futures here today owing to the somewhat unsertled ruling of Brazil and contuned realizing. First prices were 1 point higher to 1 point fower, but there was quite a little March liquidation and the market aom weakened with that delivery, selling off to 6.68, or 22 points net lower, while the more active later months showed net losses of about 20 to 23 points, with May selling at 7.19. Railies of a few points followed on covering, but the market closed at a net loss of 8 to 14 points.

May sold off to 15.38, with the market showing net losses of 22 to 30 points on March and later deliveries, during the later trading. There was no change in the general news to account for the decline, but the strength of January has been a sustaining factor, and the appearance of weakness in that position encouraged selling for a reaction. SPOTS IN NEW YORK. New York, January 13.—Spot cotton quiet; middling 17.65. RECESSIONS FOLLOW NEW ORLEANS RISE

New Orleans, January 13.—Wide advances in the early trading in cotton, today were followed by recessions that wiped all gains and carried prices well below the level of yesterday's close. Much liquidation came upon the market, especially after rumors were circulated that the January deal in New York had been settled and the late trading brought the heaviest selling so that the close was practically at the lowest at net losses of 14 to 23 points. March standing at 15.25.

The exceedingly strong Liverpool market caused the higher opening and after that there was buying on the favorable items in the Bank of England statement. Highest prices came in the early trading when the active months went 42 to 60 points higher than the last prices of yesterday, with March up to 16 cents. Heavy realizing came from the long side and it checked the upward movement. Considerable selling followed the report that 24,000 bales of ocean freight room had been booked out of this market for New York.

York.

After midsession the market lost ground steadily and in the late trading it was active but soft. Some of the selling of the late session appeared to be due to expectations of small American consumption figures from the census bureau, the first thing tomorrow morning.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, January 13.—(Special.)—Our market opened up on better advices from Liverpool. During the morning Liverpool and Wall streets interests bought, the south soid, the near positions were covered due to reports that New York would be unable to provide warehouse room for cotton to be shipped here for delivery. The cotton in sight seems to be taken care of, but some cotton intended for shipment to New York for delivery will not be shipped. In face of the accumulation of cotton for January delivery, January shows little signs of weakening, indicating that a good demand still exists for the month. Large sales of spot cotton are reported at Liverpool. This is a good indication that trade conditions there are slowly but surely on the mend. Many traders were of the opinion that the advance has been too rapid these last few days and did not hesitate to sell on the upturus. Advices throughout the country and from the trade indicate that retailers are looking for better times ahead and as a consequence we find the mills throughout the country opening up and working full time. Considering all the facts we think it best to advise purchases for future poofits.

Prices Close Heavy at 2 to 31-4 Cents Net Lower - Considerable Range in Provisions.

Chicago, January 13.—Official announcement that the Argentine exportable surplus was estimated at 120,000,000 bushels had a bearish effect on the wheat market today. Prices closed heavy at 3 to 3½cc net lower. with March $1.79 to $1.79½ and May $1.70½ to $1.70½. Corn lost % to %c. and oats % to %c. and oats % to %c. and oats % to %c. In provisions the outcome varied from 35c decline to 5c advance. come varied from 35c decline to 5c advance.

As Argentine estimates from private sources of late have put the exportable surplus at 93,000,000 bushels, the official figures showing a much larger amount in sight, gave an immediate advantage to gave an immediate advantage to the wheat bears here. Previously the market had displayed decided strength after an opening dip. The upturns were due more or less to word that 2,500,000 bushels had recently ben bought for export from the Pacifi coast. Talk of improved milling demand counted also in favor of the bulls. New export business, however, appeared to be of camparatively small volume, and of camparatively small volume, and this circumstance, together with the changed outlook as to supplies in Argentina kept the market on the downgrade in the last half of the session. Corn and oats were governed by the action of wheat, notwithstanding-continuation of good export demand for corn. Provisions sympathized with a sharp advance on how values, but later tended to sag with grain.

trend of stock market prices today.

Early quotations were distinctly downward, with intermittent rallies before noon. These were generally canceled later, persistent offerings of Crucible Steel. Mexican Petrole m and other leaders undermining the entire list. Rails and several of the utilities proved the only conspicu ous exceptions.

Lowest prices ruled in the last half hour, when seling of the better-known equipments, steels, motors and shippings supplemented the extensive liquidation of speculative favorites. Little support was shown, and sharp reactions marked the active finish. Sales amounted to $75,000 shares.

Developments of the session were again very confusing, ranging from the easier tone of the money market to strength in British exchange, more wage reductions and substantially lower railway and steamship revenues.

Call loans opened at 6 per cent for the first time in more than a month, probably as a result of renewed offerings outside of the exchange at 5 and even 4½ per cent. The supply of time money at 6½ per cent also increased.

Specific reasons attached to the reversal in certain issues, such as sugars, and Wilson Packing, which reflected more adverse trade conditions. The reaction in Sears-Roebuck gave rise to fresh rumors regarding the company's impending dividend policy.

Domestic and foreign war flotaindires were easy early under some displayment by the unset-feeling in the refined market, although the close there was a rally on late po-ns on covering. Final prices were for to 2 net higher. Closing bids: Janu-4.60; March, 4.70; May, 4.85; July,

"Location," a satire on moving picture production, and Mile. Rhea, "The Sweetheart of the Dance," share honors on a well-balanced and pleasing bill of vaudeville that closes the present week at B. F. Keith's Lyric theater.

Miss Helen Page, the heroine, is as easy to look upon as any screen beauty, and Leon Kimberly and E. Lee Robinson, who support her, are clever performers.

Mile. Ribea appears with Joseph Mach, Jr., Senia Rusakoff and Lesie Kirk in dancing, song and pantomime numbers set off by gorgeous scenery and effective lighting. She is an exceptionally expert classic dancer, but she intersperses her heavier numbers with light moments that make the act extremely pleasing.

(At the Grand.)

Even without Louise Fazenda, the closing bill of the week at the Grand would earn high place with the best of the season. However, the distinguished little portrayer of comedy roles in Keystone and Mack Sennett frolics, was present in her familier make-up, and her impromptu dissertations on the inside workings of "slapstick" life registered a tremendous hit at all three shows. Julian Boehm, president of the Civitan club, served as a capable sponsor in introducing the comedy queen to Grand audiences.

Speaking figuratively, the Grand current bill may be said to present celebrities like Al Jolson, Andrew Mack, Harry Lauder and Irene Franklin. While this famous quartet did not appear in person, Al Burton and Mary Shea impersonated them in highly unique fashlon. With the aid of life-size figures painted on a "drop," leaving an opening for the imitator's face, this couple introduce a series of songs that was worthy of the program is the comedy hit of the program is

The comedy hit of the program is scored by Guy McCompick and Cliff Winehill. The latter is an untamed "nut" performer and his unrestrained proclivities as to language and stepping brought down the house.

She is an exceptionally expert classic dancer, but she intersperses her heavier numbers with light moments that make the act extremely pleasing.

Mildred Parker opens the bill with a whirlwind violin act, offering a well selected series of classical and popular numbers. Ethel Keller and Chums, billed as "Playmates of Fun and Song," offer one of the most sparkling musical turns presented here in many weeks, and "Scrappy Coons." a blackface offering, closes the bill.

In addition to the splendid vaydeville menu, there is one of the/latest Christic comedies and the usual run of news pictures on the screen program.

Race horses, rich men and footlight favorites are the principal factors that make "Curtain," which is beir" shown this week at the Criterion theater, the biggest success Katherine MacDonald has had in some time. Miss MacDonald has had in some time. Miss MacDonald has the leading role, that of a footlight star. It is an interesting picture of stage which deals with "love at first sight," romance and its results. Everyone loves a peep behind the scenes and this picture gives them an eyeful.

Another picture that is being shown this week that adds to the pleasure of the entertainment is the latest Booth Tarkington "Edgar Pomeroy" comedy. Few screen comedies contain the genuine, clean humor that is found in these short subjects concerning this real American youngster.

"Down Home."

"Down Home."

(Coming to Tudor.)

"Down Home," which will be the attraction all next week at the Tudor theater, is an adaptation of the Frank N. Westcott novel, "Dahney Todd," which has been read and enjoyed by thousands. It is a story white hembodies sil the emotions of the human mind and heart. It will make you think and it will make you cry. It will make you think of the many things life holds for you and then realize that one can make a stepping stone to higher things out of each trial that comes, if one only tries hard enough and looks at things in the right way.

"Down Home" is the story of simple New Fingland people and of events that are liable to happen in everyday life. The tense, dramatic incidents that occur in the lives of these "Home Folks" are relieved by humor, resulting in a well-balanced and entertaining photoplay.

"Nomads of the North."

In "Nomads of the North."

In "Nomads of the North," James Oliver Curwood's latest contribution to the screen, which will be the attraction all next week at the Criterion theater, the author has succeeded in devising a love story replete with so much fervor that the very frigidity of the far north, the locale, seems to melt. James Oliver Curwood is also the author of "Back to God's Country" and "The River's End," but it is said that he has more than sustained the reputation he achieved for himself in these two latter pictures in his present photoplay, "Nomads of the North," It is described as an unusual spectacle of human love and villainy contrasted with animal fidelity and ferceity.

The cast includes such well-known players as Ion Chaney, Betty Blythe, Melbourne MacDowell and Lewis Stone.

"To Please One Woman."

"Adam and Eva," the really delicious comedy which played its opening performance at the Atlanta the ater last night, not only permitted its audience intense pleasure, but allowed them to leave the theater with the knowledge that they had seen and been refreshed by an attraction as completely clean as it was entertaining.

The plece frivols throughout, but through it run the tendrils of homely philosophy; it concerns young married couples and fiances and fiances, but does not analyze boundoirs; it deals with the sex, but not with sex—in other and less involved verbiage, it is to be openly admired by all and not whispered about afterward.

Some girls, especially the accalled 'gold-diggers,' who are out after all they can get, may prefer men of this type. But I don't think worth-while girls do. The girl worth winning doesn't want to be deluged with gifts. She usually prefers the man who is rather indifferent to her charms."

"Honest Hutch."

Will Rogers has the best role of his entire career at the Forsyth theater, Ort Hutchins, known to Willow Bend as "Honest Hutch," thought he had found $100,000 and 'mmediately began to act that vay. Where he had been a worthless town loafer, he became in his own mind a plutocrat.
